Two Day Talk for Writing Conference

Talk For Writing: An evidence-based approach for teaching written expression.

This two-day workshop offers teachers an overview of the T4W approach and provides opportunities for hands-on participation in the steps of this exceptionally effective instructional approach. The workshop addresses the use of T4W for both fiction and non-fiction writing and covers:

- Planning, both for a unit of work, based on instructional needs of students, and at a whole-school level;
- The “Three I’s” – Imitation, Innovation and Invention – which are the basis of the T4W approach and which allow students to move from dependence to independence in their writing in a systematic, scaffolded way;
- Providing effective feedback to students in order to promote skill development;
- Accurate assessment of writing, in order to track student progress and guide teaching goals; and
- Development of grammatical skills, with a focus on functional application of grammar in writing, through ‘warm-up’ games selected to meet specific instructional needs of students.

You will leave this workshop with a folder full of beautifully created resources and a practical knowledge of how to implement the Talk for Writing program in your classroom or tutoring sessions.

This workshop is suitable for teachers, SSOs, tutors, fulltime uni students and parents to help develop their student’s writing skills.
